

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 1, 2003

A classic day

Conditions were right Saturday for the annual Duxbury Bay Classic Boat Festival

Staff photo/Richard Archbold

Boat talk — Peter Clapp gives a talk about classic boats from an Owera 18-foot daysailer.

Staff photo/Richard Archbold

Keeping watch — Maura Woods and Anna Cat Bouthieller, both 5, watch the boats sail by.

Staff photo/Richard Archbold

Boat builder — Jim O'Hara uses the 'stitch and glue' technique on an Alden Kittery skiff in a demonstration of boat building skills.

Staff photo/Richard Archbold

Making the scene — Jeanne McFarland paints a scene in oil to be auctioned off that night as part of the 'Wet Paint' event.

Staff photo/Richard Archbold

Fine lines — A Rangely lake boat built by Newfound Wood Works was on display at the classic boat festival.